CORD WHEELS

Print this template out and then cut round one of the circles. You can either print directly to a card or use it as a template to cut from a cardboard box.

Cut slits where the lines are with the hole in the middle.

The cord wheel is an ancient method of creating thread or cord. Over the centuries it was used to ornament clothing of the rich and poor alike. While those who could afford it wove silks into cloth of gold and velvet, those of lower incomes spun and dyed wool into a variety of colours to enhance their everyday wear.

Today, these woven cords are still fun to make and can be used to create friendship bracelets, key rings or decorate clothing.
